

Continue

TOP 10 | Upcoming Android And IOS Games In 2020 | 2021

ios beta games 2021. ios controller games 2021. ios rpg games 2021. ios 9 games 2021. ios strategy games 2021. ios best games 2021. ios gacha games 2021. ios board games 2021.

Mobile gaming is no longer in its infancy — not only can you play visually stunning titles on your phone, but you can also pay many times what they're worth thanks to in-app purchases. Okay, that second bit is bad news, but there are still plenty of good games on Android that won't bleed you dry. Most of them do cost something, but you get what you

For Civilization VINO, this isn't the mobile version of Civ you might remember from some years back. This is the full version of Civilization VI, optimized for mobile devices with all the content from the desktop edition. Civilization VI is a deep turn-based strategy game that lets you choose the course of an entire society. It will obviously work best on larger phones, foldables, and tablets, but it's even playable on a compact device. The base game costs $20, but you can play 60 turns for free. That should be enough to know if you're going to enjoy playing a complex strategy game on your phone.FortniteYou can't talk about popular games without mentioning Fortnite, which is the most popular title in the world. The desktop and console version came first, but Fortnite Mobile has been a huge hit as well. Fortnite is your standard battle royale-style shooter. It has a cartoony vibe, whereas PUBG is more of a traditional military FPS, but that has allowed for some wacky customization and limited events that keep players coming back. You can't get this game on the iPhone at all, and it's not in the Play Store because of some ongoing legal nonsense, but Android users can sideload it via Epic's site. This is a free-to-play game, so keep a tight hold on your wallet. Mini MetroMini Metro is a puzzle game at its core, but it's not the placid, calming experience of your average puzzler. Instead, you are tasked with designing and managing an ever-expanding, color-coded subway system. Your goal is to get everyone where they need to go, taking into account the terrain, location of stations, number of available trains, and more. The gameplay is intuitive enough that anyone can play, and there are low-stress building modes if you just want to chill out. Mini Metro is a bargain at $0.99. It's also included in Play Pass.Genshin ImpactFor fans of role-playing titles, look no further than Genshin Impact. This visually arresting JRPG will keep you busy for uncountable hours — maybe forever, considering the quick pace of updates. The combat system is straightforward on the surface but allows for deep strategy once you get the hang of the elemental-based abilities. It takes up a lot of space on your phone, but it won't cost anything to try. You can play the game for free, but there are in-app purchases. Use your best judgment. Game Dev TycoonYou don't have to look far to find a casual management-style game on Android, but most of them are crawling with exploitative in-app purchases. Game Dev Tycoon costs $5 up front, but you'll get your money's worth. In this game, you make games. Well, you pretend to make games, beginning in the early days of PC versus non-PC and continuing on into the era of multiple high-end consoles. Of course, all the devices have legally safe knock-off names, but we all know what the Game Sphere is supposed to be. Sell more games, and you'll be able to get dev licenses for all the latest hardware to make even more money. There are a ton of options, so the replay value is there. This one is in Play Pass, too. Holedown!The venerable block breaker is one of the oldest game genres, but Holedown manages to give it a fresh coat of paint. This game urges you to dig down into various planetoids by bombarding the blocks with wave after wave of balls. You can upgrade your mining operation with more starting balls, more shots, and so on. Holedown is cognizant of what makes brick-breakers fun, allowing you to bank shots at almost any angle. The visuals and audio are great, and I love that Holedown doesn't demand too much of my attention. If you want something casual and easy to play, Holedown is it. It's also free with Play Pass. Dead CellsI tend toward simpler, non-frustrating mobile games, but some people like a challenge. For those folks, there's Dead Cells. It's the same game that launched on PCs and consoles back in 2018, but it just came to Android last year. It's a side-scrolling "roguelike-metroidvania" experience, which means it's very difficult and unforgiving of mistakes—it will make you both love and hate it. Little by little, failure by failure, you will unlock more gear, but you'll never progress through the procedurally generated world without serious skill. This game costs $3.99, and there are no in-app purchases. It's free for those with a Play Pass subscription. Among UsIf you've ever seen the science-fiction classic The Thing, you'll get the gist of Among Us right away. It's a co-op game where you have to fix your damaged spaceship, but someone is not who they appear to be. One (or more) of your fellow crew members is an imposter that will kill you if you find yourself alone with it. For the crew, the goal is to identify and vote off the imposter or repair the ship. The imposter, meanwhile, kills the crew and sews seeds of doubt. It's surprisingly cerebral for a game, and it's free. There are in-app purchases, but they're not essential. Stardew ValleyThere are a lot of games that look like Stardew Valley, but there's only one Stardew Valley. It seems at first like your typical farming RPG—plant crops, harvest, invest in upgrades, and repeat. The world of Stardew Valley is special, though. It's alive with stories and quests, all of which add to the endearing nature of the world. You can tell a lot of attention to detail went into this game, and it's well worth the $5 asking price. It's included with Play Pass. ReignsAs they say: heavy is the head that wears the crown. You can find out just how heavy by playing a few rounds of Reigns. As a medieval monarch, you must undertake a quest each year of your reign. To make a decision, simply swipe the event cards left or right. Sometimes these decisions seem inconsequential, but they could have major impacts on future events. Sometimes, however, they are so consequential that they will lead to your immediate assassination. Every ruler meets his fate eventually, but there are more royals waiting to ascend to the throne so you can get them banished, too. Reigns is $2.99 in the Play Store. You can play for free with Play Pass. Now Read: Love is in the air, and the luckiest among us will celebrate Valentine's Day with someone special. And if you're eating somewhere nice for the holiday, you're probably going to spend more than a few minutes waiting to be seated. Why not pass the time with Valentine-themed content in your favorite mobile game? We've got nine festive games for him and her that you won't want to put down when it's time to order.Bejeweled Blitz is the fast-paced spin-off of the original Bejeweled match-3 game. Games last for exactly one minute, so players have to rush to score as many matches and points as they can before the timer expires. With great leaderboard support and lots of helpful items to save up and buy, Bejeweled Blitz is one of the most addictive puzzle games out there.The Valentine's update to Bejeweled Blitz brings the following features:Heart Stone Rare Gem: This new Rare Gem replaces a portion of red gems with hearts, which explode in heart-shaped patterns and increase scoring potential with a multiplier effect.New starting boards: Each game now starts with a uniquely patterned game board. You can experiment with first moves to see how cascades fall and develop a starting strategy for the different game boards.Free coins: After playing the Heart Stone gem, tap one of the nine hearts that appears. Love-struck players can win up to 70,000 coins from the Bejeweled Blitz cupid.Bejeweled Blitz is perfect for fans of Candy Crush Saga, puzzle games in general, and bright, shiny things.Free - Download Now (opens in new tab)Bingo PartyLand from DeNAOne of the most popular mobile Bingo games around, Bingo PartyLand allows players to compete with friends and foes from around the world. Play up to 8 cards at once, buy magic boosts to get bonuses, and collect lots of cool items as you progress through your Bingo career:The "Valentine's Sweet Bonus" event runs through February 15-Join the holiday-themed Bingo room "Lover's Island"Pick up valentine's treats to decorate your beach withDouble rewards for every bingo winnerHow long has it been since you played Bingo? You can't get five in a row if you don't play.Free - Download Now (opens in new tab)Flutter: Butterfly Sanctuary from DeNAButterfly lovers will find lots to like in this butterfly garden simulator. Tend to your own personal rainforest, nurturing butterflies through their various stages of life. Collect a huge variety of butterfly and flora, interact with your family of butterflies, or simply relax to realistic rainforest sounds."Aphrodite" event runs through February 16:Collect the new Aphrodite set of butterflies!Complete the Aphrodite set to receive a special rose decoration for your forest.Treasure chests from gifting to friends offer more chances to collect the event flower needed to attract the special limited butterflies.Flutter is a super cheerful game - but it does get grindy eventually.Free - Download Now (opens in new tab)The Gate from Spicy Horse Games and DeNACraving something darker on this Valentine's Day? Fallen warriors awaken in the underworld with only one diversion to occupy themselves: large-scale deathmatches. Collect and build an arsenal of warriors as you progress through the single-player campaign. Engage in real-time strategy battles against the CPU or take the fight online against other players.The "Love Tale of the Marianas" event lasts through February 20:Top event players can win the limited Valentine's Day card.Earn limited Marianas cards through PvE quests, PvP arena battles, and captus!Use this code before Valentine's for free Bottle of Hope and Advanced Captus items: C-5S27-7DSG-AFCFThe Gate presents an engaging mixture of real-time strategy and card collecting, but it's also very challenging.Free - Download Now (opens in new tab)GI JOE: Battleground from DeNAThe boys can celebrate Valentine's Day with this game based on the classic G.I. JOE property and toy line. Collect, train, and assemble your own squad of heroic Joes or deadly Cobra operatives. Engage in card battles against the computer and other players. The card art is illustrated by actual G.I. JOE comic and action figure artists:The "When Worlds Collide" event lasts through February 19:Engage in an alternate world where anything can happenWill Steeler and Baroness find love together or be pulled apart by their warring sides?If you loved reading G.I. Joe character bios as a kid, you'll love doing the same with the cards you collect in Battleground.Free - Download Now (opens in new tab)Hellfire: The Summoning from DeNAPerhaps a more macabre card collecting experience is needed to counteract the frilly hearts of Valentine's Day. Hellfire allows players to collect beautifully illustrated fantasy-themed cards and battle against AI or other players. The actual battles feature a unique interactive element: players roll boulders at targets in a fashion similar to skeeball.The "Valentinius" event runs through February 17:Valentinus has fallen in love with a pure-hearted girl, but her father rejects their love because of the differences in their families' wealth.Catch all of the Love Nymphs in the forest to help Valentinus marry the girl of his dreams!Card games, skeeball, and monsters go surprisingly well together.Free - Download Now (opens in new tab)Kingdom Age from GREEThe only city building game in our holiday roundup comes from GREE. Players will start with a small settlement and build it into a vast kingdom. To make things more interesting, you can also go on RPG-style quests in which you explore dungeons and fight monsters. With three different classes to play, hundreds of quests, and PvP combat, Kingdom Age offers much more depth than the average city builder.The "Star Crossed Lovers" event runs through February 17:The quest was inspired by a real-life couple who met in the game and eventually relocated to live together.Complete this three-quest chain to earn the coveted special edition reward: Kay and Sheera, Dark Strider Heroes (custom avatars of the aforementioned couple) who offer a sizable +3% Alliance Attack.We can't all expect romance from Kingdom Age, but the game's social elements are appreciated.Free - Download Now (opens in new tab)Monster Match from DeNACollecting and raising a team of monsters is fun enough on its own. But throw a colorful puzzle game into the mix and watch out. Monster Match lets players explore dungeons and complete missions to find new monsters. The actual battles involve a gem-matching puzzle game, not unlike Legends of Dragons or Puzzle Quest.With the "Parrot Trap" event having just wrapped up, the Valentine event now lasts through February 19:A voodoo toucan judges a beautiful swan to be vain and transforms her to an ugly duckling.Complete the event to teach the swan the meaning of true love and return her to her proper form!Monster Match is cute and inviting, but sometimes you'll have to wait until your stamina recharges to keep on playing.Free - Download Now (opens in new tab)Word Science from WildTangent StudiosTo cleanse your Valentine's gaming palate, only a word game will do. Word Science puts players in charge of a laboratory of letters. These letters zoom in on a four-lane conveyor belt, and you must arrange them to form words before time runs out. Use power-ups or form longer words to boost scores to prove the hypothesis that you're the best word game player around.Valentine's celebration:Build words that involve the science of love and the celebration of Valentine's Day.Add one part English and one part Science and the result is a clever word game.$.99 - Download Now (opens in new tab)